Governor Stephens' Visit
Causes Great Demand for Places

WILL BE MILITARY

First Appearance of the State Executive Creates
Intense Interest

Practically every seat at the banquet to be given at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night in honor of Governor W. D. Stephens has been sold. Secretary James M. Rhoades is busy arranging accommodations for people who are still requesting reservations.

This dinner will be one of the biggest affairs ever held in Glendale. It is the first time that the present governor of the state has ever visited this city and Glendaleans are anxious to greet him. The dinner will take the place of the monthly forum dinner and meeting of the chamber.

The banquet and reception will have a semi-military tone. The entire personnel of Company M, 160th Infantry, C. N. G., will be turned out as a guard of honor for the commander-in-chief. The company, under the command of Captain Thomas D. Watson, will be drawn up at attention outside the chamber of commerce and will stand at "present arms" while the governor alights from his automobile.

The governor will enter the chamber through double ranks of guardsmen. The entire company will be on duty in the building and on the street during the dinner and the three officers of the company, Captain Watson, First Lieutenant N. C. Hayhurst and Second Lieutenant Harold Alexander will accompany the governor to the banquet hall as an escort of honor.

The Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, will be represented at the reception by a committee in uniform. The Legion committee is as follows: Post Commander James McBryde, Captain Goodspeed, Lieutenant Robert Plume, Colonel James W. Everington, Lieutenant G. Kaemmerling, and Chalmers Days.

Following is the program arranged for the dinner and reception, by Owen Emery, J. G. Huxley, and C. D. Luby, members of the Forum committee of the chamber: V. M. Hollister, President, presiding.

Reception committee: Capt. D. Ripley Jackson, H. S. Webb, C. W. Ingledue, Julius Kranz, A. R. Eastman, W. E. Evans.

Invocation—Rev. E. E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church. Banquet—Served by Glen. Glendale's popular cafe.

Community Singing—"America," led by Frances Henry. President Hollister introducing the toastmaster—Mattison B. Jones. Address of Welcome—Hon. Spencer Robinson, mayor of Glendale.

Guard of Honor—Company M, 160th Inf., C. N. G., Capt. Thomas D. Watson, commanding.

American Legion—James McBryde, Capt. Goodspeed, Lieut. Robert Plume, Col. James W. Everington, Lieut. G. Kaemmerling, Private Chalmers Days.

Singing—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cavanah, accompanied by Mrs. Calvin Whiting.

Toastmaster Mattison B. Jones introducing new members. Hon. H. M. Wright, county supervisor of Los Angeles county, representing the Fifth district, responding for the new members.

Violin solo—Miss Hazel Linkugel, accompanied by Miss Pearl O. Curran.

Toastmaster introducing Governor W. D. Stephens, Governor of the great state of California—"Our Governor" Address—Hon. W. D. Stephens.

Singing—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cavanah, accompanied by Mrs. Calvin Whiting.

Community Singing—led by Mayor Robinson. Thirty minutes for a reception to our Honored Guests.

Subsidence of Crime Wave Will Come as Public Is Awakened

Failing to see any subsidence of the crime wave that is sweeping the country, Henry James in his comment on the news of the day says that there has been an awakening of the conscience of the public, renewed energy in the courts and conditions point to better things. He also says that people do not seem to care a whoop whether Dempsey finds anyone to fight with, whether he fights at all, whether he gets licked or anything much about him. The interest in Dempsey died, according to Mr. James, when he failed to fight with other chaps about his age when fighting was necessary.

Mr. James has a pungent way of writing paragraphs and you will always find his column interesting and carrying a great diversity of ideas, arguments and information. James W. E. writes about something to do in his article in "The Listening Post" tonight. He says there is a job to do and to it one must grip the hammer firmly, strike squarely and drive clearly. Dr. Frank Crane writes on "The Dangerous Age," and all the other features of the editorial page are awaiting your perusal tonight.

GOOD NEWS OF VALLEY ROAD IS TOLD

Supervisor Wright
Pledges Help in Bridge
Building

The social evening of the San Fernando Improvement association which was enjoyed Tuesday night in Yeoman hall, was so great a success it will probably be repeated as a regular thing.

Mayor Spencer Robinson and City Manager Reeves gave it their patronage, and if accounts can be trusted, had the time of their young lives.

The mayor, who is steadily improving as a speaker, won fresh laurels with a talk on community welfare interlarded with good stories. He also sang "Kathleen Mavourneen" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and was petitioned for more.

Mr. Reeves gave a fine talk on community betterment and recited several poetical selections which delighted an audience which begged for an encore.

The chief speaker was Supervisor H. W. Wright, who reviewed county conditions and needed improvements. One of the things on which he dwelt at considerable length was the movement to secure, through the state highway commission, the widening to 80 or 100 feet of San Fernando road, which Mr. Wright declared, is but in its infancy as a traffic highway.

He quoted statistics to the effect that 9600 vehicles pass over it within an average of 12 hours and that 40 per cent of these are trucks carrying freight.

He said that the county is planning to cooperate with the commission in securing road betterment throughout the county.

He spoke of the proposed new highway on the west side of the Los Angeles river and declared the river should be spanned by a bridge to Glendale. He assured the association he was with it heart and soul in its effort to secure such a bridge, and that he was prepared to use his influence to that end and to cooperate with it in any betterment work it might undertake.

Dr. Jessie Russell made a characteristic talk which was received with approval, and at the close of the program refreshments, so good that the tale will go down in history, were served by the refreshment committee, Mrs. May P. Moberly having provided delicious cake, Mrs. H. P. Cobb doughnuts, for which she is famous, Mrs. Wm. Griffin, Mrs. Charles Griffin and Mrs. Johnson being responsible for toothsome sandwiches, which were served with coffee contributed by Mrs. Wilcoxon and cream furnished by the Jessup dairy.

Altogether it was an evening to remember, and a full house was there to enjoy it. The mayor was allowed to fill his pockets with doughnuts when he left.

FLOWER PRAYER MEETING CALLED

One of the annual events of the First Methodist church is that which takes place this evening at 7:30. It is the "Flower" prayer meeting. Everyone who attends is asked to bring a flower, preferably his favorite one, and then as Dr. Crist says, "The flowers speak." This unique meeting is attracting considerable attention among the Methodists and it is expected that the crowd will be greatly augmented. This is not an exclusive service but one to which everyone is welcome.

SIERRA AVE. FOLKS MEET FOR ACTION

Arrange Fight Against Cemetery and Urge
New Streets

TO BACK GAS PLAN

Unite to Protect District
Where Values Have Increased Greatly

Tuesday evening practically the full membership of the Sierra Avenue Improvement association gathered at the home of E. J. Parratt and discussed a variety of matters in which they have a common interest.

A fruitful topic was the case against the property owners who are endeavoring to establish a cemetery in the canyon, which case comes up June 23. As the establishment of a cemetery is in violation of a city ordinance, an injunction was secured by the city and when it comes up for argument, City Attorney Hartley Shaw will be assisted by Attorney Frank Muhleman, who has been retained by residents of Sycamore canyon to fight the matter.

Another subject of discussion was the new streets which are coming into being now that canyon property is being subdivided. The great desire of canyon folk is the boulevarding of Sierra avenue and its conversion from a comparatively narrow canyon road to wide and beautiful thoroughfare. The committee appointed to secure deeds to the land needed for the widening reported their task almost completed.

John Smalley, whose acreage has been subdivided and who has deeded the subdivided streets to the city, said he expected to receive a map of the property from the office to the city engineer within a few days, when the lots would be placed upon the market.

Another committee has been securing subscriptions to cover the sum required by the Southern California Gas company before it will extend its mains to the canyon. That improvement also is much desired and the committee's report showed cheering progress which makes the gas a certainty.

Altogether, it was a meeting of optimists and boosters determined to defend to the last breath the invasion of any damaging cemetery or other project likely to injure property values which have increased marvelously since the location of the new high school was fixed at Broadway and Verdugo road, and also since the Glendale sanitarium purchased its new location at the mouth of the canyon.

THURSDAY CLUB ELECTION TO BE HELD

Mrs. Wm. Mabry Heads
Ticket of Nominating Committee

The main feature for the meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club tomorrow afternoon, will be the annual election of officers, which will take place at 1:30. Those on the ballot are Mrs. William Mabry, president; Mrs. E. V. Bacon, first vice-president; Mrs. Kemper Campbell, second vice-president; recording secretary, Miss Eva Daniels; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Roy Bancroft; treasurer, Mrs. S. E. Brown. Those on the election ballot are Mrs. Lake, Mrs. Wesley and Mrs. Blair.

This meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, corner of Laurel street and Brand boulevard. The main speaker of the afternoon will be one sent out by the chambers of commerce, Jessica Hazzard from Berkeley. Her subject will be "Home Products and Home Economics." She will be assisted by several representatives of different factories in this county who will show their goods and have their products there on display. The luncheon will also be served by these representatives.

BACKBITERS' CLUB
LOS ANGELES, May 17.—Asked by the city council to explain the name of his organization of "colored gem-mum" which had asked permission to hold a dance, the secretary of the "Backbiters' club" averred: "Well, you see, the president's name is John Back, and my name's William Biter, so we just call it the 'Backbiters' club.'"

Bring Best Advertisers Here to See Glendale

By JOHN H. GERRIE
Prosperity Editor Glendale Daily Press

Is Glendale neglecting an opportunity to be advertised among the champion advertisers in America? The opportunity is before Glendale now.

In San Francisco May 30 the realtors of America will meet in annual convention. Southern California will be largely represented in the convention by some of the most successful real estate salesmen in the world. Men who helped make Los Angeles a metropolis will be there strong. Glendale also will be represented.

Several thousand realty operators and men who "sell the earth" will be in attendance at the convention. En route to or coming from San Francisco practically all the delegates will visit Los Angeles. That city is noted among real estate dealers everywhere as a realtors' Paradise, so naturally every visitor from a distance will avail himself of the opportunity of personal observation of the city that was founded largely upon the faith of men in his own line of business.

But there is another city that ought to be of particular interest to the realtors of America, if their attention were called to it. The fastest growing small city in America today is Glendale and any city that shows such speed in the transfer of real estate and the building of houses is necessarily of peculiar interest to the men who delight in such exhibitions of speed.

Are any steps being taken by Glendale or by the realty men of Glendale to call the attention of convention delegates to the records established by this city in real estate and building activities? Has the city council or any local organization planned an invitation to convention delegates to give the fastest growing small city the ONCE OVER?

Immediately preceding the opening of the San Francisco convention large numbers of delegates will assemble in Los Angeles to form part of the Southern California realtors' motor caravan, leaving Monday, May 29, for the city at the Golden Gate. Large numbers of them are expected to be in the neighboring city on Saturday and Sunday, May 27 and 28. No official program has been arranged for them.

Why not invite visiting realtors in Los Angeles on those days to come and see the fastest growing city in America of less than 100,000 population? Why not organize a junior auxiliary caravan from Los Angeles to and through Glendale, perhaps extending it via Verdugo Woodlands and other suburban development areas to Pasadena?

For the benefit of other delegates who come south after the convention this program might be repeated. Catching them coming or going will make little difference so long as they see Glendale.

Realtors are the best natural advertisers in the world. Their trade is founded upon boosting and when they haven't anything of their own to boost they'll boost for the other fellow.

The convention delegates will return to their home towns with a lot to say about California. It would be a shame to let them go without having seen Glendale, both for them and for Glendale. A thousand delegates brought to this city for an optical illustration of what has been accomplished here in the realty line within two years would do more in spreading the fame of Glendale's growth than many thousands of dollars in pamphlets sent through the mails.

If Glendale wants the best advertisers to come here, not a day should be lost in planning to bring them here. It's an opportunity that may be a long time in returning.

DAVID L. GREGG TO CONSIDER SALE ACQUIRES NEALE'S OF PRESBYTERIAN INTEREST

To Conduct the Splendid Hardware Business Developed by Firm

David L. Gregg of the Neale & Gregg Hardware Co., Inc., announces that he has acquired all of the interest of G. E. Neale in the corporation. Mr. Neale will engage in business elsewhere, while Mr. Gregg will continue to conduct the splendid hardware business developed by this firm. Mr. Gregg is one of the pioneer hardware merchants of Glendale, having as his first location the present postoffice site on Brand boulevard in 1911, later moving to the present location, where he became the first occupant of the Cole & Damsell building. As soon as the proper order can be secured the new owner of the corporation intends to change its name to the Gregg Hardware Co.

Following the prayer service to night at the Glendale Presbyterian church there will be a joint meeting of the three boards of the church, the elders, deacons and trustees, to canvass the sale of the church property at the corner of Broadway and Cedar streets. It is understood that several organizations are considering the purchase of the property for church purposes and their tentative propositions will be brought before the meeting tonight which, it is expected, will authorize the trustees to act on any proposition they approve and which they think will be for the best interests of the church. The prayer service will be followed by the customary social half hour.

THIRTEEN GO DOWN ON TEXAS BRIDGE

MARLIN, Tex., May 17.—Four persons were known to be dead today and 13 others are missing as the result of the collapse of the Marlin-Belton bridge over the Brazos river. Only one body has been recovered, that of Mrs. E. D. Mosely of Beaumont. The other three dead are F. M. Stallworth, mayor of Marlin; Dr. W. H. Allen, of Marlin, and the ten-year-old son of Clayton Briggs, Marlin. Thirteen other persons on the bridge at the time of the accident cannot be found.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 17.—More than 2500 persons are homeless in the lower Brazos river section near here, where a district 30 miles long and 8 miles wide is under water.

MILITARY MEN TO STAGE A CARNIVAL

Army Eats and Athletics to Feature the Many Events

AT HI GYMNASIUM

Hackenschmidt to Be
Feature in Wrestling
Bout

Eats, served army style, will be a feature of the athletic carnival and entertainment to be given next Tuesday night at the high school gymnasium by Company M, 160th Infantry, C. N. G., stationed at Glendale. Mess Sergeant Lowry Truitt will be in charge of the eats to be cooked on an army field range and served in regulation mess kits.

This carnival is being arranged by the members of the company and will be free to guardsmen and their friends. It was originally intended to make the affair a boxing and wrestling carnival but other talent was discovered in the company and the program extended to give them a place on it.

John Hackenschmidt will put on a wrestling exhibition with an unknown wrestler from Los Angeles who has been seeking a match with the Glendale wrestler.

First Sergeant Kenneth Wilde of Company M and First Sergeant Wesley Wright of headquarters company, stationed in Glendale, will box four rounds for the title of the Third battalion. This should be one of the best events of the evening as both boys are good boxers and heavy hitters.

In the lightweight division Leo McGuire and Charles Wippert of Company M are matched for four rounds. These boys are both fast and should provide a good bout. Other matches are being arranged for the night of the carnival and will be announced later.

Neal Sprinkle and Joe Rhodes, of Company M, and former vaudeville performers, will entertain with a few minutes of snappy black face comedy and songs.

Last but not least there will be a radio concert over the Glendale Daily Press radio phone.

Any amateur boxer or wrestler, who wants a match on the night of the entertainment, should send his name to Sergeant Paul M. Vissman and a match will be arranged for him.

K. OF P. CONFERS SECOND DEGREE AT HALL

Third Degree Work to Be Given on Tuesday Night

Work in the second degree of the order was carried out last night and the rank of Esquire was conferred on several members by Glendale Lodge No. 331, Knights of Pythias, at the lodge rooms, Brand and Park avenue.

The meeting was well attended and, aside from the degree work, several interesting numbers were on the program.

On next Tuesday night the local lodge will work in the third degree and confer the Knight rank on several members.

A busy month is ahead of the members of the lodge, as several social affairs have been arranged by the Glendale lodge and outside lodges, which have invited the members of the local organization to attend.

On Thursday night, May 23, the Van Nuy lodge will entertain at a banquet. The Glendale Knights and Pythian Sisters have been tendered a special invitation to attend this affair. Arrangements have already been made to have approximately 15 automobiles leave the lodge rooms at 7 o'clock that night, for Van Nuy.

The night of June 13 has been set aside by the local lodge as vice chancellors' night. Vice Chancellor Melzer will have charge of the meeting and program. All vice chancellors in Los Angeles county have been invited to attend and fill the chairs at this meeting. The vice chancellors will confer the Knight rank at this meeting.

A special program has been arranged, made up of several speakers, and some good musical numbers. Refreshments will also be served.

On June 4 the organization will hold its annual memorial services at Forest Lawn. All members, their families and friends are invited.

Mrs. B. Minorca Enters List Against Mrs. Rhode Island

Mrs. Black Minorca of 617 West Elk street claims that she is ahead of Mrs. Rhode Island Red of 727 South Maryland avenue, especially when it comes to laying eggs! Mrs. Red's best efforts brought forth an egg measuring 6 1/4 inches around one way and 7 1/4 inches around the other, and weighing 2 1/2 ounces, but pshaw! that is an every day occurrence with Mrs. Minorca, for her most ordinary eggs are the same size as this. However, Mrs. Minorca has broken all records for large eggs in Glendale and laid one measuring 7 3/8 inches one way and 6 1/2 inches the other. This egg weighs 3 1/2 ounces.

Of course, under the circumstances, Mrs. Rhode Island Red will have to step out of the limelight and let Mrs. Black Minorca come forward in all her glory.

Mrs. Minorca is owned by Mrs. A. G. Parks of 617 West Elk street.

TEACHERS' CLUB HOST TO POET FOLEY

Program of Organization
Marked by Tender
Poetry

The program with which the City Teachers' club entertained its friends Tuesday night at Broadway school brought much enjoyment to guests and members.

There were musical numbers before and after the address of the evening which was made by the poet, James W. Foley, and which formed the vehicle of his kindly philosophy and of the poems which he recited. It reminded one of Tennyson's "The Brook" with its song interludes. His strong plea was for self forgetful endeavor to sympathetically understand one's fellow men and give them the encouragement of a smile and kindly word along the way. He regards work as the salvation of the race and deprecates the tendency of modern education to incline youth to seek a soft job. He told a little about his own work and recited the poem in which tells.

"I only take a lot of words
And put them in a row
Such pretty things I make if I
Can put them down just so."

He recited "Chums" as the embodiment of his philosophy set forth in rhyme, and closed with "The Delusion of Ghosts."

As Miss Noble, president of the club was unable to be present, Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan presided and announced the numbers, welcoming the audience on behalf of her organization.

Mrs. Eitar Kent, who has a voice of unusual sweetness, won much applause by her rendition of "Happy Song" (Del Rio), "Kerry Dance" (Gibby), "Serenade" (Tosti), "Three Cavaliers" (Dargowzshki), and two charming encore numbers. Her work was enhanced by beautiful harp accompaniments contributed by Mrs. Enona Hopkins who also played in solo "Impromptu" (Oberthur), "Minuet" (Hasselmans), "Mazurka" (Schu-ecker), and two encore numbers insistently demanded.

Announcement was made of a business session of the club to be held May 23, and at the close of the program a social half hour was enjoyed in the corridor where punch and cake were served by the hospitality committee of the club.

Flowers beautified the refreshment tables, and the stage was given a lovely setting of greenery and flowers.

NEW DEATH HOUSE FOR DOGS AT POUND

A new kennel has been completed at the city pound on North Glendale avenue, along more humane lines than the one previously used by the city for the impounding of stray canines. The kennel is built of new lumber. Water will be provided and an adequate system of ventilation.

The kennel formerly in use at the pound caused considerable comment and complaint among the dog owners and lovers of the city. The attention of City Manager Reeves and Chief of Police Fraser was called to the house or shack and the new kennel is the result. It was said that the former kennel was a cruelty in itself as the only light and air came through a small opening near the roof which also let in the rain.

CONCERT FOR G.A.R. FUND ORGANIZED

Miss Gladys Sharpe and Intermediate Children in Program

TEACHERS TO HELP

Talented Pupils to Give Interesting Numbers
Friday Night

Miss Gladys Sharpe, one of the teachers at Intermediate, who is a very patriotic young woman, and pupils who share her sentiments are giving an entertainment in the auditorium of the school Friday night at 7:30 as a benefit for the G. A. R. building fund, which members of the Women's Relief Corps are trying to raise. The will be assisted by other teachers but it will not be a strictly school affair.

The program as given herewith promises an evening of pleasure which should be enjoyed by a large audience. When pupils and teachers as busy as these, give time and effort to such a cause, the least the public can do is to show appreciation by patronizing. Following are the numbers:

1. "Mary and Her Garden, with Parasol Drill.
2. Farce, "Women's Rights." Cast: Mr. Penelope, a hen-pecked husband—Leonard Erte; Mrs. Penelope, a suffragette, Elizabeth McGhee; Mr. Winfield, another sufferer, Raymond Ratcliff; Census Taker—Benly Hogue.
3. Spanish Dialogue, pupils of Miss Tyler and Miss Gridler.
4. Whistling Solo, "Morning" (Peer Cant)—Helen White.
5. Cinderella or the Glass Slipper. In three acts. Cast in order of appearance: Cinderella—Dorothy Forbes; Lady Cordelia and Lady Angel, her proud sisters—Kathrine Brown and Edith Ellis; Fairy Godmother—Julia Pelt; Sir Faithful, Sir Dismal, Sir Willing, Sir Joyful, courtesiers—Melville Walker, Ennis Olmstead, Maurice Tolle, Howard Richardson. Herald—Howard Retheben; King—Bruce Harshbarger; Queen—Edith Ellis; Prince Charming—Donald Murrie; Ladies at the Ball—Dorothy Allen, Marjorie Faulkner. Attendant to the Prince—Carroll To.
- Pages—Wilma Kulp, Geneva Houseman, Janet West, Virginia Horner.
- Royal Guard—William Andri; Richard Ambrosch.
- Act I—Kitchen of Cinderella's Home.
- Act II—Court Room of the Palace.
- Act III—Same as Act I.
- Between Acts I and II—Solo by Preston Hanning.

FOOD AT RETAIL HAS ADVANCED

So Labor Department Reports in Estimates Today

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Retail food prices advanced one-tenth, one percent in April over March, the labor department estimates today.

In April of this year, however, retail food prices were 9 percent lower than the same month, 1921.

Prices in April were 43 percent higher than in April 1913.

The "average family" expenditure during April over March was considerably more than in food prices indicate. Figures for 36 cities include the following increases in April over average family: Portland, Ore., and Seattle, 10 percent; Denver, Los Angeles, Omaha and Salt Lake City, 15 percent; San Francisco, San Jose, Milwaukee and Butte 16 percent; five-tenths of one percent; decreases indicate: San Francisco, Milwaukee and Butte 16 percent; five-tenths of one percent.

CONTROL OF CHILD LABOR IS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, May 17.—After an attempt to give congress control of child labor was made day when Representative Fitzgerald, Ohio, introduced a resolution calling for an amendment to constitution, giving congress power to regulate the employment of children under the age of 18. Approval by two-thirds of members of the house and Senate and three-fourths of the states required to enact the amendment. Fitzgerald believes this measure will pass without difficulty. Most of the states have child labor laws and are in sympathy with federal regulation.

THE WORST MESS FRISK EVER GOT IN

By JOHN BARTON
(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

Did the widow squirrel thank Mammy Gay-wings for saving her bad little son from a second tumble into the Beaver Pond? Of course she didn't! She just boxed his poor little ears for leaving home without permission. (As if his head were not already spinning from his dangerous swing on the end of the willow limb.) Then she turned her back on the duck and bundled him into the very darkest corner of their hole. And there he sat, sucking his paw to comfort himself till he fell asleep.

Did Mammy Gay-wings care? Not a bit. As she and Daddy Green-crest flapped back to their oak she just remarked, "The dear little thing. I don't see how that crow-voiced claw-foot can be so cruel to him."

"You'd better leave those squirrels alone," Green-crest replied disapprovingly. "I have no use for any of them! Meddlesome messy-paws!" (But that was before he changed his mind.)

Frisk felt much better when he woke up again. His head didn't buzz, except with questions. But his mammy wasn't there to answer them. So he poked out his nose to look for her. No harm in that. She wasn't in sight. But what was Daddy Green-crest doing in the burrows below him? Why did he splash so?

Frisk really truly didn't mean to more than peek. He didn't know that his curious paws were going, all of themselves, till he felt the ground beneath them. He was sprigged as anything. But he could see the bird's gay feathers waving through the burrows stalks just ahead. "Daddy Duck!" he called. "what're you doing?"

Daddy Green-crest didn't answer. He was busy right then.

Pitter-patter went the foolish little feet. But Frisk felt careful as anything. He wouldn't jump—not he! He wouldn't climb. 'Cause then things happened to him. But the earth was safe. How nice and soft it was. It was—most—too—soft! "Daddy Duck," he shrieked. "Thomethings' happening!"

Green-crest cocked an ear. That was no frog noise, though it came from a sticky little mud-hole, only a frog-hop across, which no one else could possibly walk in. He cocked an eye. Wauk! No frog ever wore those red whiskers! Was it—that was unlucky little squirrel. Sunk in 'most to his chin! In two apts his fine shovel of a beak was digging it out again.

She Just Boxed His Poor Little Ears for Leaving Home Without Permission

gle-tail in the Deep Woods were really worth rescuing.

To the Purchasers of a 30 x 3 1/2 Usco for $10.90

WHEN the "Usco" Tire announced its new price of $10.90 it carried this understood contract with the buyer—

A price reduction made in good faith—using all the U. S. advanced art of tire making not only to get the price down, but to keep the quality up.

Today $10.90 is not the uncommon price it was last November.

But the "Usco" Tire is still the uncommon tire value it always has been.

Because in carrying out the "Usco" price reduction in good faith, we learned something about raising the quality, too.

NOTED DECORATOR IS TO BE WED

An interesting piece of news to the many friends and acquaintances of Langley J. Goodman, the noted decorator of prize-winning floats and decorator of Pasadena hotels, is the announcement of his engagement to Miss Myrtle E. Battis of Atlantic City, N. J. This first appeared in the Pasadena Evening Post of May 8. The wedding is to take place early in the autumn. The home of Mr. Goodman and his mother, at 1200 East Colorado boulevard, has always attracted the attention of motorists as charmingly artistic both in its construction and its location on a beautiful hillside. The property includes a large frontage on a lower level which Mr. Goodman has just sold for a high class bungalow court.

The family of Arion Putnam, the artist, and Mrs. Putnam's mother, Mrs. Eberhart, of 353 East Hill avenue, have gone to Laguna Beach for the summer. Mr. Putnam maintains a studio and shop there during the vacation season in addition to his Los Angeles studio.

NOTES OF CHURCHES OF EAGLE ROCK

The May meeting of the Missionary society of the Congregational church will be held Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. C. M. Hbnsley, 143 North Kenilworth avenue.

Mrs. R. J. Tepper and Mrs. W. E. Sexton will entertain the Young Matrons' club of the Congregational church at the home of Mrs. Sexton, 810 Bellevue avenue, this afternoon.

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church will have a dinner in the social hall of the church next Friday evening. The young ladies forming the Hazlett chapter of the Westminster Guild enjoyed their monthly supper and conference on Tuesday evening of this week at the church.

The Congregational Sunday school is to have an orchestra, meeting weekly for practice under the leadership of a professional musician, Madam Shirley. Any young person desiring the training of this orchestra may have it at the expense of the school and is invited to telephone Garvanza 2659.

MRS. LINN TO WED FRED WATKINS

Invitations are out for the wedding which Rev. E. Morgan Isaac, with rather an air of mystery, announced at the close of his lecture last Wednesday evening, to take place immediately following this week's lecture, in the Congregational church. He left the names to conjecture, admonishing everyone to be on hand early. A crowded church is assured, since in addition to the regular attendants at the lecture and the curious minded, there will be many invited guests from out of town, as well as from Eagle Rock. The contracting parties are Mrs. Linn and Mr. Frederick Watkins, intimate friend and uncle respectively of Mrs. W. J. Roach of North Royal drive. Like Mrs. Roach, they are southerners and have been visiting at the Roach home.

EASTERN STARS ENTERTAINED

Eagle Rock chapter No. 313. Order of the Eastern Star, was entertained Tuesday evening, with special honors, by Southland chapter of Pasadena, who is looked upon as the mother of the local chapter, having assisted in organizing it and fostered it until it was able to be independent, according to the rules of the order. Automobiles in sufficient number to convey all who could accept the Pasadena invitation were on hand at the Masonic building and the drive and entire evening were greatly enjoyed. A social hour with entertaining numbers and refreshments followed the regular routine of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Benz started East on Monday intending to sail for Darmstadt, Germany, to visit relatives. They will be gone six months and have leased their beautiful home at 128 Fairmont avenue during their absence.

C. W. A. Feaster has gone to Colorado and Missouri to visit friends and relatives. She accompanied her aunt, Mrs. H. C. Boesch, who spent the winter in Eagle Rock, when she returned to her eastern home.

EAGLE ROCK IS HEADING CLASS IN BUILDING

April Total of $194,275
Exceeds So. Pasadena and Other Cities

According to the table of building activities for April prepared by the Southwest Building Contractor publication, Eagle Rock, still maintains her proud place ahead of much larger cities of Southern California, being twelfth on the list. She is exceeded only by Los Angeles, Long Beach, Glendale, Pasadena, San Diego, Santa Monica, Santa Barbara, San Bernardino, Santa Ana, Alhambra and Anaheim. Below her figures of $194,275 are those of South Pasadena, Huntington Park, Ontario, Hermosa Beach, Redwood, Fullerton, Whittier, and Riverside. In the order named, May is keeping up a good record, and the permits for March piled up the surprising valuation of $227,958. Yet stores are leased before they are half finished and the demand for homes is greater than the supply.

Eagle Rock is to have a third hardware store, which will be a convenience for the east end, as it will occupy one of the new stores at the end of the car line, owned by Mr. Blankenship of Pasadena. The Ritchey block, to which a second story is being added, as well as a large additions at the rear, is showing up nicely. It will provide commodious quarters for not only the old established hardware business of the Eagle Rock Hardware store, but for a large and comprehensive store of furniture and all household appointments. In this, as in many other directions, Eagle Rock is taking on city airs and almost everything desired may be found without going to Los Angeles.

A third drug store is soon to be opened, in the western part of the city, where it will convenience many residents of that neighborhood, under the name of the Sunshine Drug store. It will be located near the popular Sunshine grocery.

The Los Angeles Security Co., which last year secured 20 lots south of the boulevard, just east of Townsend avenue, and built houses on many of the lots, has been a liberal purchaser of lots in the new Dahlia Heights tract and is beginning to build on them. Several of the houses will be on East Hill avenue. A notable sale last week by the H. E. Barnum Co. was a fine foothill lot on Hill Drive Circle, to Frank D. Potts of Huntington Park. The large and slightly lots in this part of the Dahlia Heights tract are being sold by the San Rafael range of hills, are certain to attract the attention of persons with the means to establish beautiful homes of sufficient seclusion, with views that few localities are so fortunate as to possess.

A hollow tile house is being built at 1024 East Colorado boulevard for Miss Lulu Freeman, who is connected with Bodger & Son, wholesale seed growers in Los Angeles. She intends to build up a similar business in Eagle Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hunt will soon add a second story to their cement house at 517 West Hill avenue, an unusually fine location. On a corner of Valley Drive and Palm avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crandall are arranging to build a home. Mrs. Crandall was Miss Thelma Sheets, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sheets, the grocers.

20TH CENTURY CLUB VAUDEVILLE

The annual vaudeville entertainment of the Women's Twentieth Century club always attracts a crowd to the seating capacity of the clubhouse auditorium and next Friday night, May 19, will probably not be any exception. The performance will be in the nature of a minstrel show this year and a fine array of talent has been secured. Tickets are on sale by the club members also at the Hancock Music store, and can be obtained at the door.

LUMBER YARDS CLOSE

Both the lumber yards of Eagle Rock will be closed all day next Saturday, May 20, to give everyone connected with them an opportunity to attend the sixth annual picnic of the Southern California Lumber Dealers' association, which will be in Brookside park, Pasadena.

EAGLE ROCK PERSONALS

Miss Emily Buck of 159 Rowland avenue, after being laid up a long time with a broken hip, had the misfortune to fall again when she was able to get around some, and injured herself so much that she was again confined to bed.

The radio station put in last week by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Roach, at their home on North Royal drive, is a fine one 80 feet off the ground and transmitting front as far east as Denver and west to Hawaii.

J. Griensmann, who purchased the grocery business of J. H. Sheets a year or so ago, has bought a lot on North Townsend avenue, in the Dahlia Heights tract, and is having a home built on it.

Intending to locate in Eagle Rock, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Odell of Chicago, have arrived and are visiting their son, J. M. Odell and his family, at 147 Ellis avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard White and child have gone to Hermosa Beach for the summer and rented their home on Florissant avenue to Mr. and Mrs. A. Griswold, of Pasadena. A large and merry birthday party was given on Tuesday afternoon

'TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM' IS GOOD SHOW

Movie Fans See What Can Be Done With Camera's Aid

Movie fans and those who are fond of the classics of the American stage are in for a treat at the famous old melodrama, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," shown at the Glendale theatre today and tomorrow. This famous old play has been made into a super special. The story of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" is familiar to almost everyone, as it enjoyed great success both as a novel and play. L. Case Russell, who wrote the scenario, has followed the story faithfully, only making such changes in the original story as the dictates of the screen required.

La Crescenta

Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. Peck and Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Pritchard, left Monday for a week's motor trip through the northern part of the state.

Mrs. A. C. Zozolino and Mrs. E. Horn spent the past week in Arlington.

H. S. Bissell and little Miss Dorothy Ann Bissell, accompanied by A. C. Cobb of Los Angeles, left Monday for the north on a two weeks' fishing trip.

Last Sunday was a busy day for the local fire department. The fire truck was called out in the morning to extinguish a brush fire on Los Angeles avenue just north of Michigan avenue. Later a fire was put out in Montrose and one on Verdugo road.

Warren Sackett and children of Los Angeles were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Dunlop of Mountain avenue last Sunday.

Ex-Congressman James McLachlen was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. H. S. Bissell, over Sunday.

Someone has said that a laugh is worth a dollar. If this be true the patrons of the T. D. & L. theatre this week are securing a whole year's pay in a space of less than one hour. Charlie is there, you know, and he brings a whole lot of absolutely new laugh-makers with him. It has been a long time since Glendale has had an opportunity of seeing this famous comedian in action, and now that the opportunity has been afforded them they are certainly taking advantage of it. This was evidenced by the large attendance last night.

Pay Day is offered as a supporting picture for "Under the Bonnie Briar Bush," which in itself is worth the price of admission. One need not be a Scot to enjoy this picture, for it is of general appeal. When there is the beautiful World Wanderings travelogue which shows the Aamoo Islands. It's a one reeler and is a beauty. In addition there is the regular weekly news reel, Kinograms and the amusing sketchgrams. The show is worth twice the admission price, as are all the offerings of the T. D. & L.

For Donald J. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Green, 203 South Virginia avenue, to celebrate his seventh birthday.

It is reported that quite a number of Glendale families have moved to Eagle Rock on account of the saving in car fare and the free telephone service in the Los Angeles district. The wife of one business man going back and forth every day stated that his fares alone were $4 a month less on the Eagle Rock line. Many Glendale residents are taking the roundabout way to Los Angeles through Eagle Rock, to avoid the excessive charge of the Pacific Electric cars.

People who have resided long in Eagle Rock will miss the cheery call of James Robinson, the pioneer transfer man, always ready with a bit of quaint philosophy, who is offering his business for sale. Several months ago he was badly hurt by the falling upon him of a piano he was handling, and now feels unable to do the heavy work of such a business hereafter.

MAN-EATING FISH IS SCREAM OF MEET

Several Hundred Attend
Gathering at Intermediate Games

Several hundred people gathered at the intermediate school yesterday afternoon to enjoy the jazz program, which was given under the auspices of the athletic council of the school. The affair was given to raise funds to pay for the handball court that has just been installed.

The scream of the day was the man-eating (or man eating) fish. Before the performance of the man eating fish, which was announced in sparkling tones with many chosen words by Albert Blanford, athletic director of the Glendale schools, it was stated that this wonderful specimen had been brought especially for this occasion from Venice, where it was one of the leading attractions. The youngsters—and old ones, too—were naturally, wild to see this monstrosity. When the doors were swung open there was a rush, and the man eating fish proved to be Frank Springer, the janitor, eating sardines.

Raymond Radcliff, as coon dogger, was another of the real live members. The way the indoor baseballs "bounced off his bean" was a caution.

The ladies of the Parent Teachers association of the school were right on the job with the refreshments. They worked overtime all afternoon trying to quench the ever-increasing thirst of the hundreds who attended.

Two indoor baseball games were played during the afternoon. One was between the grammar school all stars and the picked team from the intermediate school.

In the first game the intermediate boys trimmed their opponents to a score of 12 to 4. Many spectacular plays marked this game and the onlookers were kept constantly in a state of feverish expectation. The lineup for this game was as follows:

The second game also proved to be intensely interesting. Time and again the onlookers burst into applause at the brilliant plays of the different teams. In this game the seventh grade hung it on to the A-3 class. The lineup of the teams was as follows:

RADIO REPORTS SHIP WRECKED ON COAST

Alaska Power Boat Is Deserted by Seventeen of Crew

MARSHFIELD, Ore., May 17.—A wireless message here this morning shortly before 8 o'clock, apparently from the power ship Ozmo, reported that the vessel had been abandoned by the crew of 17 and the Ozmo had been badly damaged when she plowed on a reef during the fog last night.

The Ozmo Bay harbor tug Fearless, went to the rescue of the Ozmo's crew about 8:30. The sea was calm and there was little wind. The fog was reported heavy off Cape Blanco.

Wireless said the crew abandoned the Ozmo at 4:37 when the power pumps failed and the hand pumps were insufficient to keep the vessel afloat. The steamer Williamette, said to be standing by, was not reported in the message.

The crew, all members of which were reported to be in good condition, are thought to be standing out to sea in their small boats awaiting assistance. The Ozmo, as far as could be learned, is waterlogged and derelict off Cape Blanco reef.

The Ozmo is a power schooner owned by the Northern Commercial company of San Francisco. She is 160 feet long and was built here in 1904. She was formerly the "Hugh Hogan." She has had one previous accident, that in the Sluslaw river, when she was given up for lost after running on a bar. She was salvaged and repaired, however.

POWER IMPLEMENT PROPOSITION TO BE REVISED

Committee of C. of C.
Disagrees and Is Discharged

Owing to its failure to agree the chamber of commerce committee, appointed to investigate the proposition offered by the Power Implement and Machine works, was dismissed at the meeting of the chamber yesterday noon. Some of the members of the committee were, apparently, willing to take the proposition "as is" and take a chance. The others insisted that the company bring its proposition to the people of Glendale in definite, concrete form, so that local residents who may purchase stock knowing exactly what they are buying.

The recommendation to dismiss the committee was made by R. F. Kitterman, one of the members of the committee. Prior to making the recommendation Mr. Kitterman said:

"I want to state my views with regard to this matter and I hope that the other members of the committee will do likewise, if they so feel inclined. The committee has failed to reach a decision and from where we now stand it seems as though it never will. For this reason I feel that it would be useless to continue the committee. If it is dismissed the chamber will be open for further propositions from the company or whoever else is in a position to make them."

"In making this recommendation I wish to make it plain that I do not in any way doubt the honesty or sincerity of these men. I believe they are absolutely honest, but the fact remains that their proposition did not come in such form that it could be successfully acted upon."

City Manager Reeves, who was also a member of the committee, said that he thought it was a good plan to dismiss the committee. This action, he said, would leave the chamber open to future propositions from the company.

Mrs. Ella Richardson, another member of the committee, said: "I think it is a wise thing to dismiss the committee. I think, however, that nothing should be left undone that would secure the payroll; that would come with this company, for this city, I, too, believe these men are strictly honest, and that we should do everything we can to have them locate here."

Judge Marion also a member of the committee, said: "This machine works would be an asset to Glendale is beyond question, and I believe the people composing the company are strictly honest. Mr. Ferlin, for whom I have the highest regard, was in my office for several hours this morning, during which time we went over in detail the entire proposition. I find that both of the gentlemen are willing to go ahead in any manner the people of Glendale feel they can co-operate."

"This morning we came to the conclusion that it would be a good plan from the three companies in question, these being located at Fresno, San Francisco and San Fernando, each to select an expert representative along with a fourth, an interested expert, the four to go over the plants and decide upon the valuations of each plant and to issue stock based upon the selling value of the three plants. I think the committee should be dismissed. I believe that if this enterprise can be brought here it would prove to be a big thing for Glendale."

C. D. Lustig made the motion that the committee be dismissed and J. G. Huntley seconded it. The vote was unanimously in favor of committee dismissal.

Secretary Rhodes, stated that the committee had worked faithfully and that its efforts are appreciated by the chamber.

During the meeting the board authorized the purchase of awnings for the front of the chamber headquarters for the sum of $67.05.

Dr. Edmonds of Los Angeles, presented a proposition to the people of Glendale buying stock amounting to $5,000 to $10,000 in a picture privilege of having 300 feet of film attached to the picture which the organization he represents would issue in the near future. The matter was referred to the advertising committee of the chamber of which L. H. Wilson is chairman.

A communication was received from the Mayor of San Francisco, asking the opinion of the chamber of commerce as to the advisability of holding a Pacific coast conference soon for the purpose of taking up the question of the unemployed in California. The matter was referred to the Civics committee.

An outline of the annual May festival and the children's choral crusade was submitted to the board by Harry Girard. The outline was referred to the Civics committee.

CALLING OF THE NURSE

Graduation of many nurses at this season serves to call attention to the usefulness and benignity of their profession. In serious illness the nurse often is as potent a factor as the doctor in restoring the sufferer. She is wise, tender and patient. She must have these attributes, else she never would have undergone the rigors of training.

The course through which every nurse must pass is very severe. To the observer it is likely to appear as needlessly so. Often a girl who begins training has to abandon her ambition because she cannot endure the preliminary hardships. She is disciplined under a rigid code of rules. In instances she is treated as though made of indestructible material, and when this theory is carried too far, she breaks.

A girl who hopes to become a nurse, who is willing to devote years of study to making herself qualified, is first set to scrubbing floors. The public, friendly to nurses, because most people have experienced their gentle efficiency, has noticed this and wondered about it. Probably the average girl who becomes a student knows prior to the beginning of her course, how to scrub a floor. This does not seem a sufficient reason for making her scrub it, when a broad-backed janitor is within call.

No student of medicine finds that the road to learning for him starts by a session of mowing the lawn. One in quest of legal knowledge is not expected to show his adaptability by skill in whitewashing the fence. Almost every apprentice is set about doing that which bears some relation to ultimate duties. Not so the young nurse. She wants to understand how to care for the sick, and they set her about the chores of a charwoman.

Still, the nurses persist, and finally win their diplomas, for they are a brave lot.

FILM REFORM

Arbuckle films are still barred by the order of Hays. The Joyce woman is informed that she is not to be permitted to become a screen actress. These incidents are strongly indicative of the desire of the producers to place the whole industry on a basis of respectability. Both rulings come from inside the film business. It is from this source an effective censorship is to be expected. The reformer, on the outside, may mean well according to his lights, but possibly he has mistaken his mission. Often his sole purpose is a place in the limelight, and a comfortable salary for making others be good.

The public appreciates pictures of high artistic merit. It would be glad to see such pictures, and would choose them in preference to the sort often available. In discussing the subject recently, a rabbi placed the blame on the public, or at least, he gave the public a chance to plead insanity on its own behalf for its readiness to accept inferior pictures. According to him 50 per cent of the public is made up of morons, a type of defectives, high class idiots, in fact. If one accepts this view, the bad picture, the one that a defective may understand and enjoy, would seem to fill a want. Surely the poor moron is entitled to some amusement. Even a bad picture might arouse his sluggish mentality.

Meanwhile, the fortunate 50 per cent, meaning those not deficient enough to impress observers as having anything particular wrong with the mechanism under their several hats, ask for a better grade of pictures. The indications are that they will not ask in vain. But if they don't support such pictures, and morons flock to support of pictures of a baser sort, reform is likely to be seriously retarded.

SLANDERING THE GOVERNMENT

Senator Borah was cheered by a New York audience when he denounced the course of this government in Haiti and San Domingo. He declared this course to be on par with that of France in Syria, of England in Mesopotamia and Japan in Korea. Then came the cheering.

The audience that would gather to listen to Borah would come expecting to applaud. He is a speaker of magnetism, a robust but generally misdirected intelligence, and has a voice of unrestrained volume. The trouble with what he said on the occasion under consideration was that it was not true. Not that this weakness is fatal to the hope of winning audible approbation. But seriously considered it detracts from the value of the output.

In this country there is less familiarity with conditions in Syria and Mesopotamia, than with those of Korea and Haiti. Therefore the first two illustrations may be passed over. There may be the element of veracity in them, though it is quite possible that both France and England were stirred by humanitarian impulses. Not so Japan in seizing Korea, but most decidedly so in the United States taking control of Haiti and San Domingo.

Koreans had an ancient civilization that satisfied them. They were industrious, peaceful, skilled. Their handicraft in various arts was fine and unique. As workers in metal they were not to be excelled. They deemed themselves prosperous and safe. Japan grabbed their territory because of greed and opportunity. The action was wholly without mitigating circumstance. It was the action of a tyrant, and the rule of Japan there is the rule of tyranny.

Haiti when left to itself has not been a government and not a civilization. It has been the scene of an orgy of murder and the horrid rites of voodooism. Its rulers have been savage, ignorant and debased, its people sinking quickly to a plane far lower than mere savagery. The United States could not tolerate a depravity so wanton without becoming morally party to it. It owed to the world the duty of reclaiming Haiti by the only possible means, the application of force. It would be glad were the necessity for performing this mission to end. It does not want Haiti, it does not want to be in Haiti, but at present its duty unmistakably is there. Doubtless Senator Borah knows all this. He chose, for reasons of his own, to withhold the facts and substitute fiction. Oratory sometimes is employed for ignoble ends.

RULE BY MOB

Three are said to have confessed to participation in Chicago bomb plots. While they do not gain in esteem by this effort to save their own necks at the expense of other necks as worthless, it is possible that good may come of their revelations. At least the authorities will gain sufficient knowledge of the situation to work effectively.

Conditions in Chicago long have been a scandal. Certain elements there have been permitted to defy the laws. Even the police were helpless against them. Perhaps the police also were in part corrupt. At any rate, the arrest of the offenders was an idle formality. Somebody with a pull immediately caused their release. The employer of labor, as well as the laborer himself, could obey the orders of the court in relation to wages, only at the risk of being blown up. Life and property were in constant danger. The very structure of society was imperiled. So bold had the aggressors become that they seemed likely soon to attempt to displace statutory government and give anarchy free rein.

Thus it was just before the Haymarket riot in Chicago. The men held responsible for this were of precisely the type as the suspects now in prison awaiting trial for murder. For a long time the fate of Parsons, Spies, Lingg and their followers, served as a lesson, but nearly a generation has passed, and the effect of the example is dying out. The Haymarket rioters were extolled as martyrs by the sort of folk who now are parlor bolshevists, but nevertheless the rioters were murderers, deserving their fates. So are the makers and throwers and instigators of the bombs of the present, murderers as brutal and depraved.

Registration in this county has advanced so rapidly that the results are being cited as an example to other communities. The credit for this record is due to Registrar D. B. Lyons. There is no harder working official connected with the county government. It may be added that the position Mr. Lyons fills so admirably, is poorly paid. The justice of increasing the salary hereby is suggested.

Premier Poincaré says that France must not enter into negotiations with the Russians. Doubtless he has in mind the fact that the latter have everything to gain and nothing to lose, not even honor.

THE DANGEROUS AGE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The dangerous age of sentiment is not youth. It is at the point just past middle life.

Landru, the Frenchman who was accused of be-guiling women to his house, getting hold of their property and destroying their bodies by burning them, a case which has created the sensation of the year in France, selected his victims of an age past forty.

He was very shrewd. Women are more easily duped by sentiment after forty than before.

This is particularly the case when they have been left lonely and neglected.

Every woman by nature is hungry for affection. And those who have, because of their personal appearance, been passed by in the lists of love, who realize that they have a fund of affection but have never found anybody to appreciate it, are peculiarly susceptible.

Widows who have known privation; unmarried women who have passed 40 without attracting the opposite sex; or women whose lives have been spent in hardship and drudgery, quickly respond to a little kindly sympathy.

This is not weakness nor perversion. It is a pathetic fact. It is pathetic because the women who are not endowed with graces of face and form to attract love are just as eager for love as their fairer sisters.

And they are more eager to give love than to get it.

They do not ask, "Does he love me?" but "Will he let me love him?" As Dr. Bernard Hollander says: "Women who have never loved are sometimes overcome with gnawing regret at the approach of the change of life, and it is very common for such women to make fools of themselves. When a woman is no longer young she realizes her missed chances, and she does not want to forego what she thinks is a genuine offer, perhaps the only genuine one she has ever received or ever will receive. The alluring prospect of loving companionship and a home of her own induces her to part with what savings and property she possesses."

"Women suspect men as a rule of deceiving them. Yet they hope against that judgment that though he may have wronged others she is the particular mate he has been looking for. The older a woman the more she wants to mother a man and 'save him from himself.' Even if it should turn out only a romance, better that than deadly monotony. We all have to pay for our experiences, only in the case of women the tuition fees are higher."

Very often women are the severest critics of women, and are apt to call the old maid or the widow who succumbs to the flattery of a suitor an "old fool." Perhaps such a woman is a fool in the sense that her critical faculty is dulled by her emotion. But all of us are more or less that sort of a fool, and our judgment in such cases should be charitable.

The truth is that love and sympathy and appreciation are necessities of life, quite as much as money and physical comforts. And we ought to exercise as much thrift in the one instance as in the other.

In other words, every life should lay up love or resources of love, for when one finds in later years that she stands solitary and that she is affectionately bankrupt, she is very apt to become panicky and in an excellent situation to make a fool of herself.

THE LISTENING POST

Something to do.
Something needing a bit more courage and strength and resolution than the ordinary thing.
Something that will call for your reserves of ability or capacity.
And you think it over.

You dread it a little perhaps.
Are a bit fearful.
Uncertain of your ability.
It will tax your strength.
And you wonder about it.

You say, "Perhaps I can do it."
"I think I can do it."
"Probably I can do it."
And you qualify all of your belief with doubt and uncertainty.
Because the element of uncertainty is in you.

We will say the carpenter has to drive a nail.
Or the smith has to shape a horse shoe.
Or the surgeon has an operation to perform.
Or the workman of any kind has a task to do.
All in the course of human life.
And work.

The carpenter takes his hammer in an infirm grasp.
It wobbles in his hand.
He does not hold it with a determined grip.
And the blow he strikes is weak and shaky and wobbly.
And he hits the nail a glancing blow.

He bends it.
Drives it only a little way into the wood.
Because of the uncertainty of his blow.
And he does a wobbly job.

Because he did not grasp his hammer firmly.
Set his mind to his task.
And strike a firm and steady blow.

Which is the way with you and me.
When we have the task to do.
Of which we are a little uncertain.
We do not set our wills squarely to the task.
We doubt.
And strike a glancing blow.

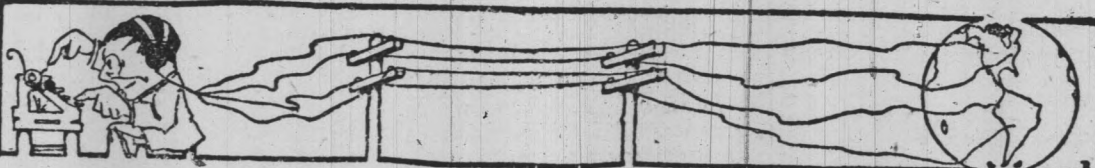

Our purpose and resolution was not firm.
We wobbled.
Were uncertain.
And the job we had to do is poorly done or we make a failure of it.

The men who succeed in doing tasks do not admit uncertainty to their counsels.
They do not wobble.
They take the hammer of purpose with a firm grasp.
And strike a fair blow upon the head of the nail.

The smith strikes squarely and firmly upon his hot iron.
The surgeon cuts cleanly and decisively.
There is no "maybe" or "perhaps" or "I think so."
There is "I can."

So there is the job to do.
Let's grip the hammer firmly.
Strike squarely.
Drive cleanly.
The resolute will is more than half the job done.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

Romance—By Andrew Lang (1844-1912)

My love dwelt in a northern land.
A gray tower in a forest green
Was hers, and far on either hand
The long wash of the waves was seen.
And leagues and leagues of yellow sand,
The woven forest boughs between!

And through the silver northern night
The sunset slowly died away,
And herds of strange deer, lily-white,

Stole forth among the branches gray;
About the coming of the light,
They fled like ghosts before the day!

I know not if the forest green
Still girdles round that castle gray;
I know not if the boughs between
The white deer vanish ere the day;
Above my Love the grass is green,
My heart is colder than the clay!

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

A STRING OF PAPERS

[Congressional Record, May 2]

Mr. Linberger. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House:

Between three and a half and four years ago the destiny of civilization was hanging in the balance. Thousands upon thousands of the flowers of American manhood were giving up their lives on the gory fields of France, while some 2,000,000 more were preparing for the great ordeal in the training camps on this side of the water. At the moment when the very life of the Nation was at stake a certain string of newspapers, whose slimy trail of pro-Germanism and traitorous utterances made them infamous from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Gulf to the Canadian border, and the name of whose editor and owner was anathema to all true and loyal American hearts, whether in uniform or out of it, were carrying on the nefarious work of opposing the war and obstructing the path to victory.

Today at high noon, in the very shadow of the dome of the Capitol, this shrine of American institutions, under the guise of serving those who only four short years ago they would have destroyed, comes this string of nameless un-American sheets bearing a petition purporting to carry 1,000,000 signatures of ex-soldiers, calling on congress to pass the soldiers' adjusted compensation measure without further delay. Agree, and all hail to the brave men who hoped thereby to accelerate the cause to which they were devoted, and in the righteousness of which I am a firm believer. But, Mr. Speaker, there is another picture which flashes across my mind's eye, and I say all shame to those who would

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

We are rapidly letting down the bars that Nature placed about us for protection. We are mechanically stimulating our senses and gaining in some ways. But we're losing in others. It's well to remember both sides.

In prehistoric days man had no artificial lights. When darkness descended activities ceased. Clad in the rusted of garments, his body easily endured cold. The eye had only its normal seeing power, the ear its normal sensitiveness to sounds. Food was simple, men and women moved leisurely.

Now, we are clad in motley array of garments fashioned for all parts of the body. We lengthen our hours of work and pleasure by the use of the brightest of lights. We have multiplied the sounds of industry—all day long the shrieks and toots and whistles, the poundings and rumblings and roarings and explosions bring pandemonium to our ears. We experiment with all sorts of pungent seasonings and flavorings to tempt appetite. We rush and whirl and hurry through life. New inventions and new discoveries bring fresh speed and sounds and sights. Life today is most wonder-filled.

But—our bodies so protected, we shiver at the slightest breath of cold. We growl if the heater doesn't "work" and berate the office janitor if the thermometer goes below 70. The retinas of our eyes being so constantly stimulated, we wear glasses to assist our weakened sight and wonder how our ancestors could see by the light of their tallow dips. We listen, and our ear drums are dulled. We banquet and lurch, and our taste buds, our appetite fails, our digestion suffers. We rush and hurry, and nerves are set on edge. Over-stimulation is doing its work. We have conquered some diseases, only to exchange them for others.

Modern progress has its rich offerings. But it also has its perils. Acceptance of one means acceptance of the other, also.

commercialize or politicize patriotism—and I am not thinking of the galant soldiers or ex-service men who served their country so unselfishly. The fact that such a pageant was sponsored by a certain string of newspapers of questionable war record, if, think, causes me to recall the observation of a soldier bystander who wore a silver service button, the emblem of his sacrifice, who, seeing the name of the owner of these papers on the truck which brought the petition, drew away, and said as he did so, "The active participation of these newspapers and their owner in this matter is a travesty on patriotism, and I can not remain to view the sickening spectacle."

Mr. Speaker, those were my sentiments as I saw that scene enacted in front of the Capitol of the United States. [Applause.]

FOUR-TIMES ARMED WAS HE

[Pittsburgh Gazette-Times]

The man who carried a revolver, a hammer, a twelve-inch knife and half a brick as a protection against robbers, as he said, is admitted to have been well fortified against successful attack.

About the worst combination in a man is stupidity and stubbornness.
Why does a man lose interest in a subject as soon as his argument is exhausted.
A man says, "I will do better tomorrow," and when tomorrow comes he does just about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin have returned from a sojourn of several weeks at Marietta Hot Springs. Their daughter, Mrs. Mabel Franklin in Ocker is leaving today for the Sunny Slope district where she will be the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett went to the Southwest Museum at Exposition Park Monday to see the wild flower exhibit which they found wonderful, 400 varieties from the mountains and valleys and beaches of the state. There were desert blooms and flowers from the sea marshes. It is open evenings as well as daytimes with a speaker each night. Last night Jean Stratton Porter made the talk. The exhibit will be open today for the last time.

Esther Ralston, a former resident of this city and student at Glendale High has just finished playing "Rose Maylie" in a screen production of "Oliver Twist" in which Jackie Coogan took the part of Oliver. Lon Chaney played "Bill Sykes," and Gladys Brockman was "Nancy Sykes." Esther is now at Universal City playing leads in a series of western pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Osborn and family of 447 West Broadway and E. L. Osborn and daughter Miss Grace Osborn of 406 West Wilson ave. motored to Bouquet Canyon Saturday night where they spent the week-end, camping out. They report a splendid trip.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Rentz of Pennsylvania, have been spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. John Munn of West Arden avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Reimer, Miss Christina Ferris and Miss Nell Bagnell motored to La Jolla over Sunday where they visited friends.

Mrs. D. E. Johnson and daughter, Mrs. Harry Wilson were week-end guests of Mrs. Frank Hamilton of Los Angeles. Saturday afternoon Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hamilton left for a fishing trip to Matilahah but returned with only a few small ones.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Booth, Mrs. Lydia Booth, Miss Maude Dyke, Mrs. Edith Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fletcher, Charles Angus, and Miss Mennita Booth motored to Hadley's Camp on the Sespe where they enjoyed a picnic lunch. The men enjoyed fishing, but did not catch many.

Mrs. Louis Lewis and small son, Louis, Jr., of New York are in Glendale spending a few months with Mrs. Lewis' mother, Mrs. Bertha Wilson, of 118 North Louise street. Mrs. Lewis was formerly Miss Ruth Wilson of this city and she has a host of friends here who will be glad to know of her visit.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bullock of 517 West Park avenue motored to Riverside over Sunday where they were the guests of Mrs. Bullock's sister. Upon returning to Glendale they brought with them Mrs. Bullock's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cogan who had been spending the week at Riverside.

Mrs. C. E. Thompson of 1214 South Louise street will be the overnight guest of Mrs. F. A. Brown of Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Vesper of East Lomita have returned from a fortnight's stay at Marietta hot springs and seem to have enjoyed and benefited by the experience.

Mrs. C. W. McCoy of 439 West Maple street left Tuesday for Douglas and Phoenix, Ariz., where she expects to spend a month visiting many friends and relatives. Her son, William R. McCoy, who is taking a much-needed vacation this week, accompanied her as far as Pomona.

Mrs. Edward Kretschmer, president of the Women's Relief Corps, Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshell, vice president, and Mrs. Lillian Peckham, pianist, returned to Glendale after a very enjoyable week spent at Riverside, where they attended the G. A. R. and W. R. C. convention. They visited the Indian boys' school at Sherman and the corps presented the high school with a beautiful flag. These ladies also had the pleasure of hearing Mr. McAdoo's talk at the Methodist church there.

Mrs. Robert Danner of 1631 Gardena avenue, who has been ill for some time, is feeling better.

LADIES' NIGHT OF BROTHERHOOD IS SUCCESS

Two Hundred and Fifty Assembled to Listen and Dine

"Ladies' Night" at the Federated Brotherhood of all the churches of Glendale, which was held at the First Methodist church last night was attended by about two hundred and fifty Glendallians, all of whom were determined to have "one of the finest times ever." Needless to say no one was disappointed, either in the program rendered or in the "feed" that was served by the Methodist ladies. The guests gathered in the auditorium of the church, and at a given signal from J. H. Garney, president of the organization, all hands moved eagerly to the banquet room.

After the repast, Rev. Edmunds, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, told the how, why and wherefore of the Federated Brotherhood.

"We owe so much to our mothers," said Rev. Edmunds. There are few of us who realize how largely our lives have been moulded and patterned by our saintly mothers. The great need of the present time is to employ all our powers to the purpose of the work of God. I have been reading William J. Bryan's book, "Images of God." In this book the author brings out three points—first, he proves the fact and the need of God; second, he proves the stability and need of the word of God; third, he proves the need of a savior for mankind.

"This organization is proving a big thing in the life of the men of Glendale. It is a simple organization. Long may it live and work." Rev. J. A. Cole, pastor of the Glendale Christian church gave a talk on the chautauqua that will come to Glendale soon.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, the only lady appearing on the program, was then introduced. She said in part:

"Today there are so many isms and creeds in the world that it is heartening to find an organization of men in Glendale and any other city for that matter, who will stand square for God and who tries to live up to its motto, 'Clean City Kept Clean'."

"Men naturally take the lead in everything of a civic nature, but it is the women of Glendale who support the men in everything that is for the general good. Music and education are the ideals in America at this time. Real improvement is being made in the music of the day. We are trying to give our children the best kind of music possible. I can't say too much against the jazz. During the great war good music was an inspiration to the soldiers, but after the war came the jazz, which served to cause the public to forget its troubles. But the time for jazz is passed, and in its place must come music of a higher character."

Rev. Edgar Fay Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church of Los Angeles, spoke on the subject, "Cooperation." He congratulated the ladies of Glendale for their wonderful organization and urged them to press on, assuring them that such united effort cannot help but bring wonderful and satisfactory results.

SCOUT PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED

District Committee Is Called for Meeting Tonight

The district boy scout camping committee, of which Peter L. Ferry is chairman, will meet at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the district scout hall, 108 North Brand, to discuss the details of the annual scout camp meeting. The summer camp will be held at Catalina island this year.

The various phases of the 1922 boy scout summer camp will be discussed and a definite price for accommodations will be set by the committee. Plans for a very attractive camp folder for distribution among the troops of the district will also be completed. The folder for the folder are already in the hands of Scout Executive H. F. Warner of the Verdugo Hills district, and are awaiting official action.

The members of the committee to meet tomorrow night are Peter L. Ferry, Glendale, chairman; Dr. Harry M. Crawford, Eagle Rock; R. W. Osborn, Burbank, and Leo L. Brown, Glendale.

The scout vacation camp is an annual affair with the organization every year is growing in popularity, according to Mr. Bennett. The boys spend two weeks at camp, enjoy the various athletic sports, and receive valuable instruction in scouting and woodcraft.

Mr. Warner will have charge of the camp this year and is arranging a detailed schedule, to be announced soon.

GLENDALE'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

JUVENILE SINGERS OF GLENDALE CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

Susie Smith Made President at Last Meeting of the Year

The Juvenile Auxiliary of the Glendale Music club held its last meeting of the year at the intermediate Saturday afternoon and elected officers for the coming year at a business session which preceded the program as follows:

Susie Smith, president; Marguerite Chappell, first vice president; Donald Murray, second vice president; Rebecca Brant, recording secretary; Helen White, corresponding secretary; Preston Hanning, treasurer.

The directors of the auxiliary are Miss Mildred Pray and Mrs. Grace Jackson. Following the election there was a brief program in which piano solos were played by Rhoda Covert and Helen M. Skeen, and then the auxiliary members were taken to an ice cream parlor for a treat of ice cream and cake.

150 AT REBEKAHS INITIATION MEET

About 150 members and friends witnessed the initiation of four new members into the Carnation Rebekah lodge on Tuesday night, held in the new Old Fellows hall. The initiatory work was put on by Edith Weiss lodge of Los Angeles, and those who were initiated were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaidell and Mr. and Mrs. Hall. This was followed by the regular business meeting, after which dainty refreshments were served.

There were quite a number of guests from the Burbank lodge present, as well as other guests.

MADRIGAL CLUB OF GLENDALE LADIES WHO WILL GIVE THEIR SECOND COLONIAL CONCERT THURSDAY EVENING AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

The Madrigal club of Glendale ladies, which will give a program at Burbank on May 30, in return for the delightful program given last week by the Burbank Choral Club in Glendale.

CHAPTER A. H. MET AT HOME OF MISS THOLEN

Chapter A. H. P. E. O. was charmingly entertained Tuesday at the home of Miss Lucille Tholen, 519 South Brand boulevard.

At 1 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served, the ladies being seated at small tables which were artistically decorated with beautiful roses and Japanese lilies. Places were set for 30 guests.

The program of the afternoon, which was in charge of Mrs. Tuttle, included an informal talk by Mrs. Cramer of Los Angeles, and several splendid vocal numbers. A short business session was also held. The next meeting of this chapter will be held at the home of Mrs. R. H. Kimball, 315 West Garfield avenue, on Tuesday, May 30, at which time their regular business meeting will be held.

MRS. TERHUNE IS HONORED HERE

Mrs. Chester B. Williams of 224 North Central avenue entertained Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Thomas B. Terhune from New Albany, Ind., who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Mary C. Beauchamp of 1210 South Glendale avenue.

The spacious living room was fragrant with roses and sweet peas, which were combined with an abundance of greenery. The luncheon table in the dining room was radiant with a large bowl of gold en poppies. After a pleasant social afternoon in which the ladies worked on needlework, a delicious 3-course luncheon was served by the hostess, who was ably assisted by her grandson "Buddy" McCord.

Covers were laid for the guest of honor, Mrs. Thomas B. Terhune, Mrs. John C. Shedd of Eagle Rock, Mrs. Homer Ormsby of Hollywood, Mrs. L. Ardrey, Mrs. C. Caswell, Mrs. M. Strother, Mrs. Victor W. McCord, "Buddy" McCord and the hostess, Mrs. Chester B. Williams.

ENDEAVOR HOLD GOOD MEETING

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church held a meeting Tuesday night at the home of Miss Marie Maier, 608 North Adams street, with about 30 members present.

A business session was held at which plans were discussed for the young people's conference, to be held here next week at the church, further announcement of which will be made later. After the business had been completed, a social hour was enjoyed, and the hostess served dainty refreshments.

SONS OF VETERANS ENTERTAIN DAUGHTERS

The Sons of Veterans held a very enthusiastic meeting Tuesday night at the American Legion hall, 610 1/2 East Broadway, when they entertained the Daughters of Veterans at a social evening.

The meeting was opened by Commander R. M. McGee, and after a short business session a splendid program was given. Joe Griffin rendered several vocal solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Griffin. Two clever readings were given by Mrs. E. B. Moore, and these were followed by two readings given by Mrs. E. E. Harwood.

Several musical numbers were furnished by Messrs. Harry Hall, Charles Parker and Richardson. Comrade Robert Taylor also rendered a solo.

After this delightful program, which was also enjoyed by a number of visitors from Los Angeles, the Daughters served a luncheon consisting of sandwiches, cake and coffee, which was followed by dancing.

92 GIRLS ATTEND CHRISTIAN CIRCLE

The Christian Circle Club met Tuesday evening and there were 92 girls present from the different churches of Glendale. It was "Soph" night and lots of pep and enthusiasm was manifested. Yells and songs were joyfully participated in by all and greatly enjoyed.

The delicious supper was served by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church. Roll call was taken by churches and it was found that the Baptist church had the largest attendance.

May 28 is birthday Sunday and every girl is urged to remember this date. This enthusiastic meeting was followed by the regular Bible lesson taught by Miss Soper.

SPANISH - AMERICA DISCUSSED AT CHURCH

"Spanish-America" was the subject of the meeting of the women's societies of the First Presbyterian church, held in the church parlors Tuesday.

This was an all-day meeting and the morning hours were devoted to sewing and quilting. At noon a luncheon was served by Mrs. Dan Campbell and her circle of about 30 ladies.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. W. A. Horne and her circle, and Rev. Rodriguez of the Spanish church at Azusa was present and gave an interesting talk. Miss Jennie Horsch of this city is his assistant. Rev. Rodriguez brought with him five little Spanish Sunday school scholars who sang for the ladies.

Mrs. R. W. Mottern read a paper on Spanish-American people as they are found throughout the United States. This completed the program, which was enjoyed by about 100 ladies.

WHITE SHRINE OF JERUSALEM

Because the charter of the organization has not yet arrived, members of the White Shrine of Jerusalem will not hold the initiation planned for tonight, but instead will enjoy a card party in the shrine room, followed by refreshments which will be served in the hall below.

X. V. I. CLUB MEMBERS WENT TO HERMOSA

Members of the X. V. I. club went to Hermosa Beach last Saturday morning at the invitation of Mrs. Lillian Eaton Home. They carried luncheon with them, and after it had been enjoyed, spent the afternoon splashing in the surf. The next meeting will be held June 3 at the home of Mrs. Albert Cornwell.

The wires of comfort

You will enjoy the new booklet "The Electrical How for Householders," which lists a variety of standard electrical materials and appliances, and describes their use in the course of a typical day in an electrified home. We will supply you a copy free upon request.

FROM far in the mountains where the melting snow turns the giant generators of hydro-electric power stations; these wires run for hundreds of miles until they finally terminate in the little glowing wires which toast bread for you every morning.

In the complicated industrial and commercial system which makes this comfort possible, the electrical contractor is a most important factor. If you value your future comfort you will choose a qualified electrical contractor—one who employs good workmanship, charges a fair price and uses standard materials and appliances such as those the Pacific States Electric Company has inspected, certified and marked with the "check" seal reproduced below.

Our experience and technical competence, identified by the "check" seal is your assurance of a complete and satisfactory installation. It is your assurance that we use standard materials, employ good workmanship and charge fair prices.

INDUCTANCE
The generator end of the motor generator set generally employed in marine sets is usually wound for 500 volts and to charge the condensers of the oscillatory circuit, the potential is stepped up by means of a transformer to 15,000 or 30,000 volts. As the output of a generator depends upon the strength of its fields and the speed of rotation of its armature, means are provided for varying these two factors. The strength of the fields is proportional to that of the current in amperes times the number of complete turns in the windings of the coil on the whole piece, in other words, the number of ampere-turns. One ampere of current winding through ten turns of wire is equivalent to ten amperes flowing through one turn; hence, a large number of turns are made in the windings, as this is a fixed quantity the strength of the field can only be varied by varying the length of the current. A rheostat, or variable resistance is accordingly inserted in series between the source of exciting current and the field windings of the generator. By increasing the amount of resistance in the circuit through the movement of the arm rheostat, the current is lessened, and vice-versi. To increase the output to the maximum, resistance is reduced to a minimum and the speed of the alternator increased by raising the speed of the driving motor with the aid of a rheostat in the field circuit of motor. In commercial service, motors are of two general types, revolving-field and revolving-armature machines, the former being employed in wireless practice. Alternators are rated in kilowatts but, as both the voltage and current are constantly varying from zero to a maximum, it will be apparent that these values cannot be taken as the true output of the machine. For example, when an alternator is rated to produce current of 110 volts, it will indicate strength on a volt meter or will lamps designed for that voltage, this voltage is termed the effective voltage, or effective E. M. This effective value is .707 of maximum so that in the case of the 110 volt machine, the maximum would be 110 divided by .707, or 155 volts. The constant .707 is called the square root of the mean squares because it can be found by squaring a number of instantaneous values in a cycle finding the average of these squares and then extracting the square root; the effective value of the potential is, therefore, often referred to as the root mean square voltage and that of the current as a root mean square amperage. For commercial use, alternating current generators are usually built with three independent sets of windings on the armature and are known as three-phase alternators. Only single phase machines are used in wireless work.

Kilo-volt: 1000 volts.

Wouldn't It Be Great—If
KLE would get busy on his set and get rid of the generator hum? They would run all of these overhead wires, underground?

AERIALS LAURE
Talk about aerials. Did you ever count the aerials as you go along? No? Well, I did, just for the curiosity of it. Counted the aerials in a distance of five miles in the city. The result, 137 aerials in five miles. Now, that is about an average, and although it seems an exorbitant amount, if you don't believe it, try it your self the first time you get a chance and want something to do. As close as I can figure, at the present time there must be an aerial to every six families. Of course, I didn't carry that out to decimal places, but that is just roughly figuring. Even roughly, it sure is going some. Even up in Griffith Park it is impossible to get away from wireless telegraphy or telephony, for about every third barn or house has some sort of description of an aerial, strung on top of it. In a certain spot here in Glendale, the aerials average four and five to a block, and that goes to show that Glendale is right up with the rest of them. We sure will have to admit that they have to go some to put anything across on Glendale, won't we. But here is another thing that might be mentioned about Glendale. People are too skeptical in regard to wireless here; by that I mean that seeing isn't believing, with a great many. For example, the other day when the press radio car was parked at the curbing on East Broadway, one man told another that the music being heard was being played by Hamburger's radiophone and that that was a complete wireless set in the tonneau of the car. The man grinned and told the fellow to quit kidding him, and walked on down the street without even inquiring or looking at the set. Now that won't do. We all want to keep up with the rest of cities and we want to do better than them, so let all of us learn all we can about wireless and its workings. It doesn't cost a cent to inquire, and there is no collection taken up at the concerts. Take the little town of Tujunga. When they were furnished with a concert there wasn't a one that looked for some one concealed under the seat, etc.; instead they swamped me with questions, and although some of them were difficult, I did my best to answer them, and I was glad to do so. Come now, get a little different attitude and believe in wireless. I know it's hard, but don't let any one get ahead of you. Help keep Glendale abreast of the times and make 'em sit up and take notice. Call the Glendale Daily Press radio department on the phone, Glendale 99, and ask your question.

MEXICO INSTALLS RADIO ON TRAINS
The Mexicans now have the Radiophone fever. To keep pace with the United States they are installing receiving sets in the coaches of their national railway systems. The chief engineer of these railways said that they have demonstrated Radiophones can be used to advantage in operating railroads. A three-day experiment was recently conducted by officials on stations 340 kilometers apart. "A special train equipped with a receiving and transmitting station was sent out on the lines," said a Mexican railway official. "Orders were sent out from the station as the train moved about over the division. The dispatchers kept in touch with conductors at all times, regardless of where the train was—thus insuring safety for the passengers. "As soon as all experiments are completed and the best equipment adapted for the purpose is found, work will begin on installations. Plans are being worked out to utilize the existing telegraph lines for the new system of multiplex telephony by which 15 or 20 conversations can be carried on over one wire at the same time. This will give the southern republic a splendid long distance telephone system until radiophone plants become more numerous."

Thrillers!

—By Herbert Johnson.

And the Grandmas Take to Radiophones

Willie—What's the matter with Grandma; she never gives us any nickles any more?
Jimmie—Oh, I know; she's saving up her money to buy a radiophone set so she can lie in bed at night, close her eyes and hear stories told.—The Pathfinder.

The Flies that Walk and the Ants that Talk
"Tests conducted by the Westinghouse people the other day showed that the movements of a flock of flies across a sheet of brown paper sounded, by radio, like the booming of thunder."
"But the flies' footsteps aren't the half of it. Thomas Edison announces it soon will be possible to hear the conversation of ants! The question, 'What are the red ants saying?' has agitated scientists for years."

"Henry Ford, Mr. Edison's close chum is following his experiments with keen interest. 'I have always wondered what the ants were saying,' said Mr. Ford today. 'If they are saying what I think they have, it may go hard with them.'"
"The Westinghouse people have gone Mr. Edison one better by declaring that by means of a powerful radio amplifier the sound of a molecule turning over could be heard, which brings to mind the old song:
"I love to sit and listen most obtrusely,
Throughout the fading hours of the day,
To all the little atoms running loosely,

And all the little molecules at play."

With the Radio Club and School
Once more the radio school will hold session at the usual hours. Tonight at the Household arts building. Code class which is a combination of the former Wednesday and Thursday classes. Please accept apologies for Monday night class. Failure to hold school that evening was due to the construction of the new broadcasting station and also to a concert given at Burbank that night.

MISSOURIANS ROLL OUT!
All who ever lived in the "Show Me" state are called to meet under the auspices of the Missouri association of Los Angeles county for a jolly picnic, all day, Saturday, May 27, 1922, in Bixby Park, Long Beach. Come as early as you can and spend the day with friends. We will have county registers and headquarters so you can find the old neighbors even with thousands present. There will be a brief program opening about 2 o'clock, consisting of songs and short talks. The main purpose will be to have a good time and let you do the talking. We want to see all the tourists and visitors from the old home. Bring your basket well filled. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the souvenir badges. Many prizes will be offered. Come on and see which one you can win.

BANK EMPLOYEES IN TUJUNGA FIND FORGER

Robert Walker and F. C. Scoville Given Credit for Capture

TUJUNGA, May 17.—Robert Walker and F. C. Scoville, teller and cashier respectively of the Tujunga Valley bank, are given credit for finding and causing the arrest of a man using the assumed name of "Peter Werner," wanted in Glendale and vicinity on bad check charges. The man's real name was withheld by the authorities.

He was a customer of the Valley Bank and had drawn most of the alleged forged checks against the accounts of local people. He purchased travelers' checks with money secured from these forged checks at a Los Angeles bank, under another assumed name, and it was this that gave the local bankers their first clue when he tried to pay off his debts here with them. When a Glendale bank which had received some of the worthless paper communicated with Tujunga, Walker, who was in the bank alone at the time had a "hunch" and compared the forged checks with those signed in the suspect's own name. These were later checked over with Cashier Scoville. The writing proved to be identical, and the Glendale police were notified. Detective Sergeant Gordon Kincaid who had been working on the case with other Glendale officers, was sent, and took him in custody. He was giving a farewell party at his home, and greeted the arresting officers, thinking they were his invited guests. He at first denied his identity, but when confronted with the evidence at the bank made a confession.

Dinner to State Realty President
The Tujunga Realty Board, at a dinner given in the school house last night, honored President C. C. Tatum of the State Realty Board, and Glenn D. Willaman, executive secretary.

Dr. Theobald, president of the local board, presided, and introduced Mr. Tatum and Mr. Willaman, who responded with most interesting talks. Several Tujunga men present were called upon to speak. Those who responded included Wallace M. Morgan, F. M. Ashby, M. T. Hartman and Dr. W. Frederick Keeler. Community singing closed the program.

Members of the Ladies Aid served the bountiful dinner.

T. N. T. Club Initiation is Success
The T. N. T. club held its first initiation last night and conducted three candidates through the ritual. Several of the other expected initiates were unable to attend.

The public portion of the initiation included a hike through the streets, with the new members carrying a huge framework bearing the letters, T. N. T. The initiates were required to go into several business houses and perform vocally, and ended up by rendering "Old Black Joe" at the reality board banquet.

The private ceremony was impressive, and will form an excellent precedent for future initiations.

LA CRESCENTA, May 17.—Oak Grove park, a subdivision just east of Montrose belonging to A. M. Brown, was put on the market Sunday morning with a record sale of 26 lots the first day. This subdivision of 30 acres contains several small canyons, many oak trees and a small park in the center of the tract.

MINNESOTANS ARRANGE PICNIC

Lelia Belle Morris will read and Dixie M. Harwell will sing a group of songs at the Minnesota state meeting, Friday evening, May 19, in Music Art Hall, 233 S. Broadway, Los Angeles. A social hour will precede the program and dancing will follow. H. J. Brubaker will lead the singing and the New California song will be sung by Mrs. Stella Gilbert and Mrs. Evans. All the Gophers will be made welcome whether members or not. There will be roll call of counties and presentation of a prize.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

THE DATES AND THE KING

The sun was hot and beat upon the sand
With tropic fury and the King Sarband
Sought shade and rest beneath a palm that grows
Near Ghizeh where a cool spring is and flows
With bubbling water in the waste of sand.

Ne: by the cool spring sat the King Sarband
And rested from his journey and he bade
His servants and retainers all be glad
For rest and shade and for the desert pool
Whose waters bubbled and were pure and cool.

And by the spring near Ghizeh rested too
A boy with dates of Araby that grew
Some luscious, and some small, and when he went
He brought the dates he had to Sarband's tent
And offered him a portion, knowing not
It was the King who graced this desert spot.

JAMES W. FOLEY

"The desert sand is hot," thus the boy spake.
But here is this cool, grateful spring to slake
The burning thirst, and here are dates to eat,
The dates of Araby, grown rich and sweet
From stately palms—and as thou liest to rest
I beg thou wilt accept a share—the best
Of these I have—and at the great king's feet
He laid his best dates, luscious and most sweet.

Laid them and would have gone, but King Sarband
Recalled him, from his finger drew a band
Of beaten gold with a great jewel set,
And bade the boy with dates come nearer yet:
"I thank thee for thy gift of dates," he said.
"This ring I give thee with its ruby red,
Is, like thy gift, the best I have to make,
And thou shalt wear it for my sake,
And have what it may bring." And so the king
Dismissed the boy, great-eyed and wondering.

And Artaban, the counsellor of the king
Cried: "Givest a boy thy one most precious ring?"
"Aye," said the king, "he gave his best to me.
Could I, a king, Sarband, do less than he?"

PROGRESSIVE CLUB LOCAL TEACHERS, AS BALL PLAYERS, ARE GENTLEMEN

Committees Are Appointed; New Members Are to Be Secured

The recently organized Progressive Business Club, at its meeting yesterday, at the chamber of commerce, appointed standing committees for programs, publicity and for attendance. Their personnel follows:

Program: Chairman, Fred E. Hoyt, S. F. Bell and J. C. May. Attendance: Chairman, Dr. Henry B. Harrower, H. E. Psenner and E. B. Sutton.

Publicity: Chairman, J. Howarth, W. Q. Widdows and Robert Cowan. The musical features of the program yesterday were given by Dr. Henry B. Harrower who sang "Mother Machree" in a delightful tenor voice, and W. B. Kelly, president of the club, who with Dr. Harrower gave the duet "My Wild Irish Rose."

The picnic committee reported Sunday, May 28, as the date of the club picnic. No place has been selected however, the committee reported.

The Progressive Business Club is one of Glendale's youngest organizations. According to plans, still to be perfected, this organization proposes to be a power for civic betterment.

The membership at present approximates 35. The committee on new members has determined to increase this to 50 by July 1. Some of Glendale's leading business and professional men are numbered among the members.

A copy of the Club's code of ethics was presented to each member yesterday. This code of 11 articles covering the entire attitude of the club in its relation to the public and civic improvement is as follows:

FIRST: To acknowledge that all benefits coming to me are the result of our government and that I first owe my allegiance and patriotic support to our constituted form of government, its constitution and laws.

SECOND: To believe that to be entitled to share in the business profits of this community, I owe my support to its public institutions and its civic betterment.

THIRD: To render unselfish service beyond the amount of debt or obligation.

FOURTH: To consider that friends are an asset to every business and any advantage gained by reason of friendship is ethical if beneficial to all parties in a transaction.

FIFTH: To elevate myself and to conduct myself that I may have and hold the respect of everyone.

They Refuse, Positively, to Win Game From Their Guests

The faculty of Glendale high school, as baseball players proved that they were gentlemen—they refused yesterday to defeat the faculty team from Pasadena high school and allowed the visitors to go home with the long end of a 19 to 1 score. They played pretty, and although an attempt was made to camouflage, it was easily seen that the Glendallians did not want to win because that might hurt their guests' feelings.

The Glendale team had to make one run. Coach Hayhurst, the first man up, smacked the ball on the nose for a homer. The team had one run chalked up, and then the home boys settled down to a steady game of striking out. This lasted for five innings. By that time the Pasadena players were so tired that they refused to run another base, and the game was called off.

The game yesterday was a gala occasion and one long to be remembered by the students, as they had unlimited opportunity to "raspberry" the faculty. The grandstand was filled with boys, girls, teachers, friends of the players, pickles, candy and pop. The newly organized high school band was there and played until the game was called.

Prof. E. Borncamp was chosen as a target by the students. No one knows why he was chosen unless it might possibly be that he is good-natured, or maybe because the elastics in his baseball pants were broken and allowed them to hang at the knees like a pair of oversized short pants or a pair of undersized long ones. Every time Borncamp passed the grandstand the air was filled with cries of: "Oh, Freddy! Those pants!"

George Moyse appeared on the diamond and was immediately elected yell leader. He led the students in two or three yells and resigned in favor of a member of the freshman class who was hardly as tall as the megaphone.

When the game started everything was quiet as Glendale took the field, and Laurensen, shortstop on the Pasadena team, stepped up to the plate and slammed out a single. On a fumble Laurensen stole second, Dunn was the next man at bat, and he singled. Baker followed Dunn and ended the agony by slamming out a homer, scoring all of the men.

Glendale came to bat, like a lion going after fresh meat, and went out like a lamb. Hayhurst, the first man up, slammed out a homer, and it looked like a sunny day for the home team. Miller, the second man up, walked, and Nord got a by competition and that I will do no act to hinder free and open competition.

TENTH: To be no more obligated to a Brother Progressive than I am to every other man in human society.

ELEVENTH: To devote my best thoughts and efforts to the benefit of humanity and to adhere to the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as I would have them do unto me" in my social and business life.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS TO CONVENE

To Hold Three Days' Session in Glendale Opening Tomorrow

Glendale is a city of churches and a city of Sunday Schools. It is a city of Sunday School workers and for them this will be a great week. Thursday morning, May 18, at 9:30 in the First Methodist church the 37th annual convention of the Los Angeles County Sunday School Council of Religious Education will open.

The presiding officer will be High C. Gibson, General Secretary of the council and the local promotion committee of which Rev. Harley G. Preston is general chairman includes the following men and women, officers and sub-committee chairmen. S. D. Percy, vice chairman; Mrs. H. T. Stevens, secretary; Mrs. C. R. Hallett, registration; Mrs. A. A. Smith, registration; Mrs. George A. Moore, entertainment; A. W. Tower, publicity; Carl C. Seitter, buildings and rooms; Alton Mattice, parcel room; Mrs. J. A. Newton, dining service; Members of J. O. C. Class of First M. E. Church, decoration; H. L. Finley, finance; Mrs. J. W. Stauffacher, exhibits; Mrs. Hartley Shaw, music; Mrs. H. W. Yarik, Children's Division; Mrs. John Camphouse, Young People's Division; James L. Brown, Adult Division; Roy L. Kent, Administrative Division.

A big program has been arranged which includes not only the general sessions but special divisions for children and young people, the effort being to bring out all sides of the work. Glendale Sunday Schools will be represented by Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian Church; John Camphouse, president of the Council; Roy L. Kent, Superintendent of the Sunday School of the First Baptist Church; Carl Seitter, Director of Religious Education of the First Methodist Church; A. W. Tower, Superintendent of Sunday School of First Methodist Church; and Mrs. H. W. Yarik, Primary Superintendent of Congregational Sunday School.

Close quarters—in the miser's purse.

two-bagger, filling the bases. The next two men were out, and then Webb, like "Mighty Casey"—struck out.

In the second inning the visitors failed to score, but in the third they came back strong and started the slaughter of the innocents all over. This inning netted them eight runs. Brown tried a one-handed stab at the ball in left field and missed. Hayhurst and Nord matched pennies or tossed a coin to see who should pick up a fumbled ball, and in the meantime a run slipped in. In some unknown manner, two of the Pasadena players were put out, and a third fell a victim of a double, Lockwood to Miller.

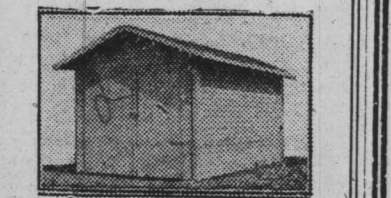

In the fourth inning Nord held the ball in his hand and tried to catch a runner off third base, but the strategy failed and the visitors succeeded in piling up three more runs.

In the fifth inning the visitors made three runs before striking out, and the game was called. The Pasadena players were too tired to run bases any longer, or else they belong to the union and refuse to work after 5:30 p. m.

Altogether it was an exciting game and the crowd in the grandstand was on its toes all the time, with the exception of one girl. She came to the game with a resigned look on her face and a Saturday Evening Post under her arm. During the entire afternoon she looked up was when a boy stepped on her toes.

The line-up for Glendale was as follows: H. B. Butterfield, catcher; N. C. Hayhurst, pitcher; R. Miller, first base; G. L. Lockwood, second base; W. A. Nord, third base; M. Smith, shortstop; F. Borncamp, right field; P. E. Webb, center field; E. Brown, left field. Smith went in as pitcher and Hayhurst changed to shortstop in the fourth inning.
